confirm that we understand the measures described in chapter 6 of the national security programme issued by the Federal Ministry for Transport, Innovation and Technology.

Security measures for transport companies:

6. Staff handling cargo has to be reliable (penal register has to be checked by the employer when the working contract is issued) and trained in the cargo handling process.
7. Before our company can accept any air cargo as identified in the freight papers, order form, loading list or customs documentation, it has to be checked to ensure that the consignments were not subject to an unauthorised access.
8. If it is not possible to secure each consignment during transport or to protect it against unauthorised access so that tampering (manipulation) can be recognised externally (for example damaged packages, damage to seals, shrink foils etc.), the loading compartment of the vehicle has to be secured or to be protected against unauthorised access with measures put in place to recognise externally unauthorised access (manipulation).
9. Drivers must be able to identify themselves with a photographic identification card during delivery of consignments to the air carrier or their handling agent or to a regulated agent.
10. Drivers must not leave vehicles containing air cargo or air cargo consignments unattended unless measures (seals, locking systems with controlled keys) are in place to prevent or recognise unauthorised access. Where tampering attempts are recognised drivers must report these immediately to their supervisor.

We agree to abide by the here listed security measures or where this is not possible to hand over any consignments to an appropriate screening procedure by an appropriate company (for example regulated agent) according the regulation (EC) nr. 2320/2002.
